Part V

a. The activity reported on Line 7 was from a concession stand operated for the benefit of the kids and their parents. It was manned mainly with volunteer workers.

b. Tournaments were held for selected teams from our league on three separate weekends. Teams from the surrounding area played in the tournaments with an entry fee required to enter. Mainly volunteer workers worked the tournaments. The tournaments provided the kids from the league to compete at a higher level of competition than the normal league. It reinforced the idea of teamwork to accomplish a goal, as well as the need for listening to and respecting authority. It also was the first time some of these kids ever lost, so the idea of losing graciously without getting upset or mad was a very valuable lesson learned.
